VOL 30 BLOOMSBURG, PA., FRIDAY, JANUARY 18, 1895. NO 3

THE VANDERSLICE--SNYDER CASE.

The trial of the case of T. J. Vanderslice, administrator of Mary G. Vanderslice deceased, against N. U. Funk, executor of Mary Snyder deceased, is on this week before Judge C. E. Rice, specially presiding for Judge Ikeler. The counsel for the plaintiff are J. B. Robison, R. R. Little, and James Scarlet Esqs., and those for the defendant are C. G. Barkley, Fred Ikeler and C. C. Evans Esqs.

There is but one point to submit to the jury, and that is whether Mary Snyder executed a certain paper by making her mark. In order that it may be understood, we give a brief history of the case. On February 5, 1876, Daniel Snyder signed a note in favor of Joseph R. Vanderslice, for $2865. On the same sheet of paper, underneath the note is a written obligation guaranteeing the payment of the amounts named in the note, if not paid by Daniel Snyder, which obligation is signed "Mary Snyder, her mark," and witnessed by Samuel W. Adams, and Thos. J. Morris, bearing date the 18th day of May, 1877. Mary Snyder died in 1889, and in 1890 N. U. Funk, her executor, filed his account, showing a balance of about $7000 in his hands. An auditor was appointed to make distribution, and at the audit this paper was presented and payment demanded out of the estate of Mary Snyder, on the guaranty. The claim was resisted by the estate on the ground that it was not Mary Snyder's obligation, that she never executed it, and that even if she did, that plaintiff could not recover for legal reasons. The hearing extended over nearly four years, and the audit was in session on about sixty different days. At the close of the testimony the counsel for claimants asked for an issue to be certified to the court of common pleas to try the fact whether Mary Snyder executed the paper in question. In his report the auditor refused to recommend such an issue, on the ground that it was not a material fact, and rejected the claim, holding that even if Mary Snyder signed it, the claimant could not recover, because of want of consideration, and for other legal reasons. Exceptions were filed, and Judge Ikeler, who was a witness, called in Judge Rice to hear the case. Judge Rice overruled the auditor, and granted the issue, and this is the point on trial.

Mr. Little opened the case for the plaintiff, and then called Samuel W. Adams, one of the subscribing witnesses to the paper, who testified in substance that on May 18th, 1877, he met Joseph R. Vanderslice in Bloomsburg, and the latter asked him to go with him to witness a paper. They went first to T. J. Morris' office, and from there all three went to Mrs. Snyder's house, corner of Main and East streets; that she met them at the door, and they went in the house, and then Mr. Morris made the mark, she touching the pen; he and Morris signed as witnesses, and they came away. A long cross examination followed, covering all the details of Mr. Adams' movements on that day, and of the transaction. Thos. J. Morris being dead, the following witnesses were examined; Guy Jacoby Esq., J. H. Maize Esq., J. J. Brower, I. W. Hartman, G. W. Corell, P. H. Freeze, B F. Sharpless, Robert Morris, Geo. Morris, all of whom on being shown the paper, declared the belief that the signature of Thos J. Morris was written by him. The testimony of D. J. Waller and J. P. Tustin, (both now deceased,) as taken before the auditor, was read to the jury. Both declared the signature to be that of Thos. J. Morris.

The plaintiff closed, and the defense was opened by Mr. Barkley. Mrs. M. E. Ent, a grand-daughter of Mrs. Snyder, was the first witness. She testified that she resided at her grandmother's from December 1876 to July 1877 and that on the 18th day of May 1877 and for several weeks before and after, Mrs. Snyder had sore eyes, and was confined to a dark room, with a bandage over her eyes; that she had to be waited on constantly and was not left alone; that Jos. R. Vanderslice, Thos. J. Morris and Samuel W. Adams did not call there on the 18th day of May, nor any other time, and that it was impossible for them to have seen Mrs. Snyder alone without some of the family knowing it; that Mrs. Snyder never transacted any business without advising with some of the family, particularly N. U. Funk, who was her trustee. Mr. Robison conducted a searching cross examination.

Mrs. White of Philadelphia testified that she was a distant relative of Mrs. Snyder, and visited at her house in June 1877, at which time Mrs. Snyder still had sore eyes and wore a shade over them.

The testimony of Mrs. Petriken taken before the auditor was read to the jury. It was in substance the same as that of Mrs. Ent.

Isaiah Hagenbuch testified that Mrs. Snyder paid him some money in April 1877, that he saw her, and she was then in a darkened room, with her eyes bandaged.

C. R. Buckalew testified that as counsel for Mrs. Snyder he met at her house with Jos. R. Vanderslice and his counsel E. R. Ikeler, and members of the family, shortly before the date of the guaranty, and the note at the top of the paper was there, Mr. Vanderslice desiring Mrs. Petriken to sign it; that Mrs. Snyder then expressed herself as opposed to any member of the family going on any more obligations for Daniel, as he was insolvent.

E. H Rauch, of Mauch Chunk, an expert in hand writing, testified that he believed the signature of Thos. J. Morris to be a simulated hand.

Dr. Persival Frazer, another expert, is on the witness stand on Thursday morning, and the prospects are that the case will occupy the full week. It is being closely and skillfully tried on both sides, and is exciting much interest. The court room is constantly filled with spectators. Judge Rice, with his quiet manner and prompt and pointed rulings, commands general admiration.

FROST IN THE SOUTH.

A report from Jacksonville, Florida, just after the recent cold snap, says: "Commission merchants and others in the North are sending many telegrams here asking if it is true that the unmarketed Florida orange crop will prove a total loss as the result of the recent freeze. These inquiries seem to be prompted by the fact that some dealers are still shipping oranges. There were some boxed oranges on hand at the time of the frost, and those were not hurt. But there were probably not 5000 boxes of them. In some parts of the State the damage was not so great as elsewhere. But there are not enough good oranges left to be worthy of consideration. The fruit now going forward has been nearly all touched by the frost.

I have been pretty much all over the orange-growing parts of the State since the frost, and I have yet to see the first grove that does not look as if it had been parched by a fire. The leaves on the trees are sere and yellow. An orange grove can easily be picked out from a long distance. The live oaks, palmetto, cabbage, palm and other such trees do not seem to have been affected. As they generally surround more or less the orange groves, the yellow leaves of the latter, in comparison with the green of the others, make a striking contrast. In many of these groves few oranges had been picked. In others nearly all. The total crop was estimated by experts at 5,000,000 boxes, half of which had been gathered before the frost. The average price of these oranges to the consumers was $2 a box. This would make a loss of $5,000,000 on the 2,000,000 boxes that have been spoiled by the frost. One half of this loss falls on the growers, the other half on the dealers and the transportation companies. I have met a number of growers who offered to sell the fruit on the trees at 5 cents a box. But they were unable to sell even at that rate, though I did hear of a few contracts of that kind at Monteliar."

Mr. C. C. Trench, of Bloomsburg, was among those who suffered loss. He has large orange orchards, and between one and two thousand boxes of fruit were frozen. He says, however, that the losses will not be nearly so heavy as at first reported. Recent advices received by him are to the effect that not nearly so many trees were killed as at first supposed. Mr. Trench spends the winter in Florida looking after his property, and but recently returned from there.

Poor District Officers.

The following named gentlemen constitute the auditors for the Bloom Poor District: A. P. Young, of Greenwood, Wm. Mather, of Millville, Wm. Bogart, of Espy, H. L. Hess, of Sugarloaf, and F. M. Everett, of Bloomsburg. The directors are J. M Larish, O. T. Wilson, A. C. Hidlay. J. K. Grotz is treasurer, and C. A. Kleim is secretary of the board. A recent audit of the year's accounts has been had, and the board has rendered a favorable report.

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Heddens lost their infant daughter, aged a month and a half, on Tuesday morning, after an illness of four days. They have been very unfortunate, as this is the second child they have buried in two years.

AT THE NORMAL.

The first lecture in the course for 1895 was that delivered on the evening of January 10th by Major H. C. Dane. The rain overhead and the uncertain footing prevented many outside of the school from attending. Still the attendance was all that might have been anticipated under the very unfavorable circumstances. The students marched into the auditorium punctually at the stated time and, taking seats, they of themselves constituted quite an audience. After listening to a choice selection rendered by the Normal Orchestra, which was heartily applauded, Professor Welsh introduced the speaker of the evening in a few complimentary remarks about the fighting qualities of the Danes.

The speaker spoke from experience largely, and he handled his subject with fluency, awakening patriotic enthusiasm and eliciting applause. Laying greater stress upon the importance of our naval engagements during the war than is generally surmised, he yet wisely admitted the overruling hand of Providence throughout, which he declared to have been frequently contrary to the most patriotic planning for national salvation on land and sea. And as for our illustrious admirals, who were frequently wiser than they knew, he declared them to have been risen up as the most proper agencies and at the most opportune moment for the purpose eventually effected in God's providence. He not only painted most vivid word pictures of our naval engagements, but he also disclosed some secret international history concerning the friendly attitude of the Russian government and the belligerent attitude of England and other nations in the derkest hour of our national gloom and despondency. Had the friendly attitude of Russia been an open secret upon the occasion of the visit to this country of Alexis, it is quite likely there would have been no reason to complain of the reception this country gave him—no matter who was President.

We will only say in concluding our criticism that if the other engagements of the course are as well rendered as this, a very profitable and edifying evening's entertainment may be had on each occasion by all who may choose to attend. The next entertainment will be given on the evening of January 19th, when the New York Philharmonic Club will occupy the stage.

The Magical Word "Imported."

Why is it that the very name "Imported" seems to add as much to the beauty and intrinsic value of a garment to most feminine eyes as it does to its price mark. The thing may not be a bit prettier or even more stylish than could have been achieved by one's home dress-maker; indeed, it may be positively ugly from an æsthetic point of view, but the fact that it hails from foreign shores is enough to make it a thing of beauty to most feminine beholders.

There is also a class of people who prefer to buy their goods in the city rather than patronize home merchants, notwithstanding the fact that the same articles can be bought for the same or less money at home. Of course, there are some things that cannot be found here, but we are referring to the ordinary necessities of life, as well as some of the luxuries. In printing alone there are enough orders sent out of town to keep a good printing office busy, and for work that can be done at any home office just as well or better. Too many assume that the home printers can't do what they want, and so send their work away without making any inquiry at the local establishments. We are in favor of protection to home industries, and the best way to get such protection is for everybody to try to get what they want, at home, before sending out of town for it.

Giving Away Horses.

Good horses are cheaper in some parts of the West now than dogs are in the East, for there are few dogs not owned by some one, while the horses cannot be given away. All over the West horses have been astonishingly cheap for some time, and $2 or $3 has been a good price for a good animal. A hundred head of ranch horses—sturdy, unbroken bronchos from Wyoming—were sold in Denver for $90 and the freight recently. It is reported that a big stock firm in Idaho has turned more than 250 ponies adrift to shift for themselves during the winter, as it was cheaper to do this than to provide food for them. The firm could not get even a dollar apiece for them.

CAN'T MOVE THE COURT HOUSE.

The Grand Jury at Wilkes-Barre Decides Against a Change of Site.

There was an interesting fight before the Grand Jury last Saturday at Wilkes-Barre between prominent citizens on the question of a Court House site, and it ended in the decision that the present site should be retained. Several months ago two consecutive Grand Juries recommended that a new Court House be built, and shortly after the Commissioners decided to purchase a lot two blocks away from the center of the town. Several prominent people who believed their property would be damaged by taking the Court House away from the center of the town commenced suit to prevent the Commissioners executing their project.

After an interesting and lengthy legal fight the Court decided that the Commissioners could not remove the location of the Court House without the consent of two consecutive Grand Juries. The Grand Jury decided that the Court House should be kept on its present site.

Theatrical.

At the entertainment in the Opera House on Friday evening, Lincoln J. Carter's "Tornado" was artistically reproduced and it was rendered with good scenic effect. It succeeded not only in drawing a full house, but also in exciting much favorable comment upon its realistic scenes and the acting. Throughout there was a combination of humor and pathos which was well calculated to edify. The author very kindly arranged to have the dead resurrected, the cold blooded villain arrested, all offence at last appeased by marriage. The entertainment aside from the main play, such as song, dance, vomiting and ventriloquism also elicited much applause.

The School Book Trust.

And now along with the free text books for public schools we have what is known as the "text book trust," to which it is claimed the State has paid already over $1,000,000 unnecessarily. It begins to look as though so-called advancement and benefit has its reactionary pull backs and hindrances of the common good, tending very largely to enrich and protect trusts and combines, lessening the line of legitimate competition, and making the State rather than the individual foot the bills. It is, accordingly, not altogether a species of legislation in the interest of the poverty-stricken and uneducated when trusts control all book trade and consequently reap extortionate profits.

A Sleighing Party.

The following named ladies and gentlemen took a very enjoyable sleigh ride, on the 9th instant, to Mayberry Ockey's, about five miles distant, in Montour township, where they were pleasantly entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hartman, Mrs. Fortune and daughter Agnes, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vanderslice, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Creveling, Miss Sue Potter, Miss Anna Creveling, Mr. Charles Hendricks, Miss Mamie Creveling, Mr. DeWitt, Misses Lou and Sue Creveling, Mr. George Miller, and Mr. Scott Creveling.

Williamsport Church Damaged by Fire.

Christ Episcopal Church Annex, at Williamsport was seriously damaged by a fire last Saturday evening that caught in the evergreen decorations of the Sunday school room and burned with the rapidity of powder. The janitor was examining the steam pipes and using a gas lighter as a torch, when the dry spruce became ignited and in five minutes the interior of the costly edifice was a mass of flames. The damage to the structure will approximate $3,000.

An Eloquent Preacher.

In the Methodist Episcopal church of Bloomsburg, next Sunday, 10:30 A. M., Rev. Dr. John F. Crouch, of Philadelphia will preach. Mr. Crouch has filled some of the most prominent pulpits of the Methodist church of Philadelphia. He is at present pastor of Union church, long one of the most prominent Methodist churches of the city. He has also been presiding Elder of both the north and south Philadelphia Districts.

Moyer Brothers and others, who in the past were obliged to haul much of their shipping to Rupert, now find it a great convenience to just haul across the new bridge and ship from East Bloomsburg depot, from which point trains are now run to suit Bloomsburgers.

Contagious Diseases in Schools.

The Directors of the Bloomsburg Public Schools, in order to prevent the spreading of contagious diseases, request the attention of all parents sending children to our public schools, to the following regulations issued by the State Board of Health of Pennsylvania. The Directors feel it their duty to enforce these regulations in order to preserve the health of the public schools in Bloomsburg. Attendance is prohibited as follows:

SMALL POX—Six weeks from the commencement of the disease, if every scab has fallen off.

CHICKEN POX—Three weeks from the commencement of the disease, if every scab has fallen off.

SCARLET FEVER—Six weeks from the commencement of the disease, if the peeling has ceased and there is no sore nose.

DIPHTHERIA—Six weeks from the commencement of the disease, if sore throat and other signs of the disease have disappeared.

MEASLES—Three weeks from the commencement of the disease, if all rash and the cough have ceased.

MUMPS—Three weeks from the commencement of the disease, if all swelling has subsided.

TYPHUS—Four weeks from the commencement of the disease, if strength is re established.

TYPHOID—Six weeks from the commencement of the disease, if strength is re established.

WHOOPING COUGH—Six weeks from the commencement of the disease, if all cough has ceased.

Under judicious treatment the period of infectiousness may be considerably shortened, but no child suffering as above should be admitted to any school after a shorter period of absence, and should be provided with a medical certificate that he or she is not liable to communicate the disease.

LENGTH OF QUARANTINE—Teachers or children who have been exposed to infection from any of the following diseases may safely be readmitted to the school, if they remain in good health (and have taken proper means for disinfection), after the following periods of quarantine: Diphtheria, 12 days; scarlet fever, 14 days; small pox, 18 days; chicken pox, 18 days; mumps, 24 days; whooping cough, 21 days. Adults may be readmitted immediately, if they disinfect their clothes and persons—Regulations, State Board of Health of Pennsylvania.

In Memoriam of Mrs. Lavinia Robbins.

WHEREAS, it has pleased our heavenly Father to call home our beloved sister, Mrs. Lavinia Robbins, and

WHEREAS, in the death of our promoted sister, the Stillwater W. C. T. U. has lost a valued member, and one who was a wise counselor, cheerful, faithful spirited, and endeared herself to all who knew her, the husband an affectionate wife, the children a kind loving mother; therefore be it

Resolved: that, though we deplore our loss, and shall miss her cheerful face in our circle, we bow in submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, knowing that our loss is her gain.

Resolved: that we extend to the bereaved friends and our sisters, the daughters of the departed, who are so far removed from us at present, our sincere sympathy in this time of bereavement.

Resolved: that a copy of these resolutions, be placed upon the minutes of the Stillwater Union, and that they be published in the Benton Argus and Bloomsburg papers.

Terrible Explosion.

While fighting a fire out in Butte, Montana, on the 15th instant, a whole fire department was killed by an explosion of giant powder which was stored in the burning ware-house. The entire department was wiped out, including the chief and all the horses. The relatives of the killed are frantic and the city is in consternation. The powder in the warehouse was in violation of law. It was the greatest explosion in the history of the West.

Stockholder's Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Farmer's Produce Exchange (Limited) will be held in their hall in Bloomsburg, on Tuesday, January 29th, 1895, at 10 o'clock A. M. A full attendance is desired, as officers will be elected and important business brought before the meeting.

Whatever may or may not happen in the future, we are certain to find our proper level in this life. And we need have no doubts or fears or scarcity of faith about it, either. A man's enemies will soon find his proper level for him if his friends don't. But the false accusation of an enemy only sets the righteous man's virtues forth in more glowing colors. Its the truth that betrays and reveals the hypocrite and dissembler—no matter about his artificial efforts or professions.

JAPANESE MASSACRE AND HORRID ATROCITIES.

Cruel Barbarities of Three Days' Duration.--Over 2,000 Defenseless Beings Wantonly Put to Death.

James Creelman, of New York, has furnished his home papers full details of the taking of Port Arthur by the Japanese. His account abounds in horrors unknown to the civilized and christianized world. Smarting under their continued defeat the Chinese have, no doubt, been most cruel in their treatment of what few Japanese prisoners they have taken and the brutal massacre at Port Arthur was in retaliation. The correspondent says there is no longer a Chinese army proper, and the advance of the Japanese is therefore one of wreckless abandon and a continuous march of conquest. Ashamed of their own barbarities great efforts were made to induce the war correspondents to shut their eyes to the wilful and brutal waste of life. It was the law of war to kill the soldiers of the enemy who resisted and could not be taken prisoners, it was argued. But the correspondents would not be hoodwinked, and pointed to the murder of hundreds of unoffending inhabitants, women and children, and refused to conceal from the world the bloody work of the armed assassins. Mr. Creelman says: "Japan stands disgraced before the world. She has violated the Geneva convention, dishonored and profaned the Red Cross and banished humanity and mercy from her councils. Victory and, now, lust for dominion have set her mad."

It is true that when the Japanese troops poured into Port Arthur they saw the heads of their slain comrades hanging by cords, with the noses and ears gone. There was a rude arch in the main street decorated with bloody Japanese heads. A great slaughter followed. The infuriated soldiers killed every one they saw.

No attempt to take prisoners was made. I saw a man who was kneeling to the troops and begging for mercy pinned to the ground with a bayonet, while his head was hacked off with a sword. Another Chinaman cowered in a corner while a squad of soldiers shot him to pieces. An old man on his knees in the street was cut almost in two. Another poor wretch was shot on a roof top. Still another fell in the street and was bayonetted through the back a dozen times. Just below me was a hospital flying the Red Cross flag, but the Japanese fired upon the unarmed man who came out of the doorway.

A merchant in a fur cap knelt down and raised his hands in entreaty. As the soldiers shot him he put his hands over his face. I saw his corpse the next day. It was slashed beyond recognition. Women and children were hunted and shot at as they fled to the hills with their protectors. The town was sacked from end to end and the inhabitants were butchered in their own homes.

About 5 o'clock there was a sound of music on the parade ground, where all the Generals were assembled with the Field Marshal—all save Noghi, who had gone in pursuit of the retreating enemy. What cheering and what hand-shaking! What solemn strains from the band! And all the while we could hear the rattle of rifle volleys in the streets, and knew that helpless people of the town were being slaughtered in cold blood and their homes pillaged.

That was the coldest night of the year. The thermometer dropped to twenty degrees above zero. While the women and children were freezing out in the mountains the work of exterminating the men went on all night.

In the morning I walked through the streets. Everywhere I saw bodies torn and mangled as if by wild beasts. The slain shopkeepers lay piled in the roadway, with tears froxen in their eyes and bloody icicles hanging from their wounds.

Dogs were whimpering over the stark corpses of their masters. Here and there the famished animals were tearing at the flesh of human bodies still warm. While in company with Mr. Cowan I came across a corpse which had been beheaded. The head lay two or three yards away and a dog was tearing the neck. A Japanese sentry looked on and laughed.

Then I saw a white haired, toothless merchant disemboweled on the threshold of his own shop, which had been looted. Another victim had his breast ripped opened by a Japanese sword, and a pet dog lay shivering under his arms.

There was a dead woman lying under a heap of slain men in every conceivable attitude of agony and supplication. At one corner there were twenty-five corpses in a pile. The soldiers had been so close to their victims that the clothes had caught fire and partly roasted the dying men.

Twenty feet away was a white bearded wrinkled man with his throat cut and his eyes and tongue torn out. Nowhere the signs of a weapon, nowhere the sign of war. It was a sight that would damn the fairest nation on earth The Japanese had tasted blood, and the work went on the second day.

I saw soldiers trampling over the twitching bodies of dying men to rob their houses. There was no attempt to conceal the appalling crimes. Shame had vanished. It was heartrending to see men dodging around corners like hunted beasts and kneeling for mercy but getting none.

All through the second day the reign of murder continued. Hundreds and hundreds were killed. Out on the road alone there were 227 corpses At least forty were shot down with their hands tied behind them.

Just at dawn on the morning of the third day after the battle I was awakened by the sound of rifle shots. They were still at it. I went out and saw a body of soldiers, led by an officer, chasing three men. One carried a naked infant in his arms. As he ran he dropped the baby. I found it an hour later, dead. Two of the men were shot down. The third, the father of the baby, tripped and fell. In an instant a soldier had pounced upon his back with a naked bayonet in his hand.

I ran forward and made the sign of the Red Cross on the white non combatant's bandage around my arm, but the appeal was useless. The bayonet was plunged three or four times into the neck of the prostrate man, and then he was left to grasp his life out on the ground.

I hurried back to my quarters and awakened Frederick Villiers, who went with me to the spot where I had left the dying man. He was dead, but his wounds were still smoking.

While we were bending over the corpse we heard shooting a few rods around a road and went forward to see what it was. We saw an old man standing in the road with his hands tied behind his back. On the ground beside him were the writhing bodies of three other pinioned men who had been shot. As we advanced a soldier shot the old man down. He lay in the road on his back, groaning and rolling his eyes. The soldiers tore his shirt away to see the blood run from his breast and shot him a second time. His features twitched and his body was convulsed with pain. The soldiers spat in his face and jeered at him. We turned away from the place. Remember, this was the third day after the battle. Next day I went in company with Mr. Villiers to see a court-yard filled with mutilated corpses. As we entered we surprised two soldiers bending over one of the bodies. One had a knife in his hand.

They had ripped open the corpse and were cutting the heart out. When they saw us they cowered and tried to hide their faces. I am satisfied that not more than 100 Chinamen were killed in fair battle at Port Arthur, and that at least 2,000 unarmed men were put to death.

It may be called the natural result of the fury of troops who have seen the mutilated corpses of their comrades, or it may be called retaliation, but no civilized nation could be capable of the atrocities I have witnessed in Port Arthur. Every scene I have described I have looked upon myself, either in the presence of the American and British military attaches or in the company of Mr. Cowan or Mr. Villiers.

This may be warfare, but it is the warfare of savages. It takes more than one generation to civilize a people. The Field Marshal and all his Generals were aware that the massacre was being continued day after day.

A Lady With 2,600 Pipes.

There is a lady in Paris named Bide. She must be a strange woman, or a new woman, for she has a mania for smoking. This is not so eccentric in itself, perhaps; the eccentricity comes in when her failing inspires her with a desire to color meerschaum pipes. Arrested for theft, the police searched her flat and discovered no less than 2,600 pipes of this description, thirty-nine being well colored. To possess so many is a decided achievement, to color nearly forty is still more noteworthy. Mme. or Mlle. Bide will have to "bide a wee" in prison, where pipes are colored not and meerschaums are at rest.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's Necklace.

Mrs. Willie K. Vanderbilt has a diamond necklace which is considered unique even among New York jewels. It is the realization of a girlish dream, as ambitious as most of the ideas of this strong-willed lady. The necklace is a string of unset diamonds, each one of perfect color, faultless shape and clear as a drop of water. As one sees them from the orchestra when their wearer is seated in her box at the opera they look like a string of fire encircling her white neck. The gems are strung like beads on a fine gold wire.

WE'RE GROWING FAT.

This Seems to be the Latter-Day Tendency of Americans.

In many ways we are made aware that we live in an age when men tend to adipose tissue. The advertisement columns in our newspapers bear constant witness to the fact that anti-fat remedies are in large demand. Until within ten years such advertisements were rarely seen. The evidence of our eyes as we walk through the business streets of any of our cities assures those of us who are old enough to recall the business men of the preceding generation that the American citizen of good circumstnces is more literally "a solid man" to-day than he used to be.

A glance at the portraits of the whole line of our presidents confirms the belief that our national physical type is becoming more portly. The post-bellum presidents have been weightier men than their predecessors. Abraham Lincoln was the last of our chief magistrates who in any way justified the traditional Uncle Sam, tall, angular and spare of flesh. All who have followed him have been men of good avoirdupois. Grant and Hayes were the least corpulent of them, and they were both men of ample girth and weight. Garfield and Arthur both made formidable impressions on the scales, and Mr. Cleveland is cast in the same massive mold. Most of our cartoonists have taken the hint and no longer present Uncle Sam as a marvel of length and leanness, but as a gentleman of well-rounded form whose food obviously agrees with him.

So marked has the inclination to obesity become among us that we are constantly hearing of prominent citizens who feel constrained to undergo vigorous courses of diet or training to rid themselves of superfluous flesh. The normal weight of a man whose height is five feet six inches is fixed at 145 pounds, and if he is a six-footer at 178 pounds. Allow about six pounds, more or less, for every inch of increased or decreased height, and the normal weight can be ascertained. Nevertheless, many men, and probably the majority, carry more than their due allowance of tissue, and unless the excess is very marked they do so without discomfort. It may, indeed, be doubted if the fad of "training down" is not in danger of being overdone. A moderate store of fat, according to excellent medical authority, tends to reduce the wear and tear of the nervous system, and acts also as a sort of savings bank of vital power, to be drawn upon in an emergency. In confirmation of this view of the matter it is often said that athletes have failed in severe competitive tests because they were "trained down too fine."

He Ate Flooring Nails.

An inquest was held at the County Asylum, Lancaster, England, recently, by Mr. Holden, respecting the death of William Fitzpatrick, forty-four years of age.

Dr. Gemmel, of the asylum staff, said deceased was admitted in 1877, and was formerly a weaver in Oswaldtwistle. He was forty-four years of age, and had been under the care of witnesses at intervals during the past five or six years. Deceased had been an obedient and quiet patient, and he had never heard of him attempting anything of that kind before. Deceased looked pale when brought to him, and told him the same story as to the nails. He put him to bed, and found a foreign body occuping the upper portion of the abdomen.

After consultation he decided to operate as there was a remote chance of saving his life. The operation was necessarily tedious and dangerous, and lasted a couple of hours. He found 192 flooring nails, varying from three inches to one and a half in length, the smallest being a tack. There was also a half-screw nail, two buttons, a piece of wire, and a mass of matted hair. The operation was completed about 7 o'clock, and the patient sank and died about 11 o'clock. He was satisfied that deceased had got the nails from a heap of old iron. The cause of death was shock, consequent on the operation. The mucous membrane of the stomach was lacerated by the nails. The other portions of the body were right. The nails weighed one pound nine and a half ounces and and must have been in the stomach twenty-four hours.

The jury returned a verdict of death from shock to the system.—Ashton (Eng.) Reporter.

To Make Sunlight.

Nicola Tesla, whose wonderful achievements in the line of electricity are well known, thinks that he will be able to produce sunlight on the earth at will. He says that the light of the sun is the result of electric vibrations in the 94,000,000 miles of ether that separate us from that luminary, and does not proceed from a great central fire, as the scientists have all along held. If these vibrations can be reproduced, the light will follow. The rapidity of the vibrations in a second necessary to produce the desired result is, he says, expressed by the figure 5 with fourteen ciphers annexed, and he is now trying to build a machine which will produce these vibrations. It would appear from what he says that this vibration must be produced in nothing, or what comes next to nothing—ether—for he asserts that if one had a solid chunk of steel as big as a house, and could communicate to it this vibration, it would instantly be atomized and disappear.

WASHINGTON.

An Extra Session will Likely be Called.--Chairman Cockrell Favors Rotation of Office.--The Administration Wins a Diplomatic Victory.--The Brains of Coxey not Needed in the Senate.--Secretary Carlisle Sustained by the Courts.--Sibley Gaining Notoriety through Vulgar Abuse of the President.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, January 11, 1895.

President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle were far from being pleased at the success of the combination of republicans, populists and anti-administration democrats, which resulted in the House refusing by a vote of 129 to 124 to adopt the order reported from the Committee on Rules, fixing a day to vote upon the currency reform bill; but they still believe that a bill can be passed. The direct result of that vote is the temporary laying aside of the currency bill, but steps are being taken which it is hoped will result in getting the support of enough of the democrats who voted against the rule to make the ultimate passage of a currency bill by the House a certainty. Representative Bland, of Missouri, who was one of those democrats, says it will be an easy matter to get the support of nearly all of them by amending the bill so as to recognize silver. One thing now seems certain. If no financial bill is passed at this session an extra session of Congress will have to be called.

Senator Lodge having announced his intention to offer an amendment to the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, when it comes up in the Senate, providing that the consular service shall pass under the jurisdiction of the Civil Service Commission, Senator Cockrell, chairman of the Appropriation committee, who will have charge of the bill, was asked if he thought the amendment would be adopted. "No," was his positive reply. Continuing, he said: "I am not in favor of extending the Civil Service law over any more offices. I believe that the intention of Congress and the spirit of the law are already exceeded. It was never contemplated that so many branches of the government as are now included in the classified service should be so. I believe both President Cleveland and President Harrison have exceeded their duty and authority in this respect, and if they are going any further and take any more officials under this humbug system, I propose they go the whole hog, and include the heads of bureaux, members of Cabinet, and the President himself. I do not see why we should except the President from a civil service examination, if we are going to include all the rest of the executive officers of the government."

It will be interesting to note how many republican newspapers will be honest enough to give the administration proper credit for having compelled the government of Spain to remove the discrimination of 75 cents a barrel against flour shipped from the United States to Cuba. This diplomatic victory was not easily won, but President Cleveland and Secretary Gresham decided that won it must be, and Minister Taylor was instructed to inform the Spanish government that it must choose between removing the discrimination against our flour and having Cuban sugar shut out of the United States, and that the choice must be made quick. The Spanish government is notoriously slow in reaching a conclusion upon anything, but in this case it "got a move on" and quickly chose to abolish that discrimination.

Senator Voorhees, chairman of the Senate Finance committee, refused to grant a hearing to Coxey on his good roads and non-interest bearing bond scheme, on the ground that it would be an absolute waste of time, as the committee would not attempt to consider the matter. Coxey was granted a hearing before a subcommittee of the House committee on Ways and Means, consisting of Bryan, of Nebraska; Dalzel, of Pennsylvania; Whiting, of Michigan, and McMillin, of Tennessee, but there is no probability that any recommendation will be made by the subcommittee.

Secretary Carlisle's interpretation of that clause of the new tariff law which repealed the McKinley sugar bounty—that it put an immediate stop to the payment of bounties—has been unanimously sustained by the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, in a test case. And the court also decides that the sugar bounty was unconstitutional, two out of its three judges assenting and the third neither assenting nor dissenting, because of his belief that it was unnecessary to pass on the constitutionality of the bounty at this time.

Representative Sibley, of Pennsylvania, who was elected to the House by democratic votes, but who long ago proclaimed himself to be a republican on the tariff and a populist on the finance question, disgraced himself and his constituents by making a personal attack upon President Cleveland, in a speech in the House, which was one of the coarsest, most vulgar, and most ungentlemanly ever made in Congress. Opinion is divided as to whether he is halfway crazy or merely seeking notoriety, and pity and disgust are the sentiments respectively held concerning him.

Financial.

In his Annual Report in 1890 Secretary Windom said to Congress:

"In my judgment the gravest defect in our present financial system is its lack of elasticity. The demand for money, in this country, is so irregular that an amount of circulation which will be ample during ten months of the year, will frequently prove so deficient during the other two months as to cause stringency and commercial disaster. The crops of the country have reached proportions so immense that their movement to market, in August and September, annually causes a dangerous absorption of money. The lack of a sufficient supply to meet the increased demands during those months may entail heavy losses upon the agricultural as well as upon other business interests.

It is said by western critics that Mr. Breckinridge's lectures don't draw enough to meet the interest on the money awarded Madeline and they express the fear that he will yet strand in some town just like other unappreciated showmen are apt to be and ought to be.

EX-SHERIFF OF ULSTER COUNTY.

Hon Davis Winne Owes His Health to Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

SHANDAKEN, N. Y.—One of the most prominent men in Ulster County is the Hon. Davis Winne, of this town. His reputation is not confined alone to this county, where he held the office of Sheriff for three years, he was also this district's representative in the New York State Legislature. For years Mr. Winne has been suffering from a complicated case of kidney and bladder trouble and congestion of the liver. Upon the advice of friends he decided to try Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. He was not disappointed, for in a short while after he began its use, he was in better health than he had been in years before.

In speaking of Favorite Remedy, Mr. Winne said: "It has done more for me than all the physicians I ever employed, and I most unhesitatingly recommend it to any one suffering from kidney, liver or urinary troubles, for it will cure them.

Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the acknowledged specific for all diseases arising from acidity of the blood, and will cure dyspepsia, rheumatism, scrofula, eczema, kidney, liver and urinary troubles.

You can not afford to trifle with health and life. Putting off treatment when dangerous symptoms exist is only slow suicide. Accept the aid of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy; it has restored thousands to health and strength. 2t.

Girls Who Attract Men.

The girls who attract the best men are almost always a source of surprise to their femine friends, who are often lost in wonder as to why so many more patent charms should have been passed over in such selections, writes Mrs. Burton Harrison in the January Ladies' Home Journal. It is the little mouse of a woman, the shrinking, shy creature left in the background by her bolder sisters, we constantly see brought to the front by the man who has won her love. And men prefer to any such coquettish invitation as that extended by Mrs. Bond of the nursery rhyme to her ducks when decoying them to come and be killed, the uncertainty hanging around a being to whom they have to sue.

Every man's ideal of a wife—I mean the normal, honest citizen of our Republic, who looks forward to making of himself and his line, stones to support its bulwark—is a girl who may be pretty, who might be brilliant, but who must be good. He also recognizes instinctively that her grace should not be too costly to wear every day. That she shall be cheerful of temper, inclined to take short views of human infirmity, and sound of health, he is apt gravely to consider, within himself, as essential. If all those who, before marrying, omitted to think about these things had done so, it is possible we should hear less to day of the incompatibility of man and woman.

Important Supreme Court Ruling.

The Supreme Court says the Wilkes-Barre Record, handed down an important decision, by which corporations are compelled to appear in court and answer charges against them. The case is entitled Commonwealth vs. Lehigh Valley R. R. Co., and it involved the power of compelling corporations to appear in Criminal court when indicted for nuisance. Heretofore the district attorney had no way to compel an appearance. The plaintiff claimed that a service of notice and copy of indictment and the issuing of a writ of venire facias to compel appearance was sufficient, and if then a corporation ignored it judgment should be entered in default of appearance. Judge Rice ruled that it was necessary to bring the corporation in by distress infinite, and decided against the district attorney. The Supreme Court reversed the decision and directed that judgment be entered in default. John M. Garman and C. F. Bohan represented the commonwealth.

This reverses the whole practice upon this point in the State of Pennsylvania.

The Daughters of the American Revolution are still celebrating George Washington's wedding day in New York. If there is anything that will interest the ladies it is somebody's wedding day. And when they can't do any better they fall back on George Washington's.

IS EARLY RISING HEALTHFUL?

It Is If You Start the Day by Reading the Right Kind of a Newspaper, AND

THE PATRIOT is the right kind. It is the only complete morning newspaper that reaches Central Pennsylvania at an early hour of the day.

It is one of the foremost Democratic newspapers in the State and the only one printed at the State Capitol, the official and political centre of the Commonwealth.

It prints the news, receiving it over its own wires though the extraordinary facilities of the great Press Associations, aided by its own correspondents.

THE PATRIOT is Democratic to the core. It is opposed to bosses and an enemy of corrupt monopolies. It isn't afraid to fight the wrong; it never hesitates to speak for the right.

It makes a specialty of department news and gives more each day than all the other State papers combined.

The Legislative Session of 1895, will be of great importance to the people of the State. THE PATRIOT with special reporters will keep its readers fully informed concerning this and all other political and economic matters. It has exclusive opportunities for securing advance news of a public kind.

DAILY, ever week day morning in the year $5 a year.

WEEKLY, Tuesday evening of each week, $1 a year.

THE DAILY issue will be sent four months on trial, by mail only, on receipt of $1.

THE WEEKLY will be sent four months on trial, by mail only, on receipt of 25 cents.

THE PATRIOT is the best advertising medium in Pennsylvania outside of Pittsburg and Philadelphia.

FREE TO THE UNEMPLOYED: It inserts without charge advertisements of those wanting employment. Its Help Order has brought assistance to hundreds. It has a Cent a Word Want Column for other wants.

Address, THE PATRIOT COMPANY,

12-21-4t. Harrisburg, Penn'a.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 18, 1895.

Rumors from Tokyo and Yokohama, dated the 10th of January, were to the effect that the King of Korea was dead. The Tokyo rumor saying that he was assassinated, while that from Yokohama said he had been prostrated by an epileptic fit. The whole Chinese Empire seems to be getting fits from the spunky little Japs

There was a bill recently introduced in the State Legislature which, if passed, will prohibit the killing of deer in this State for three years. There is also a bill proposing to abolish days of grace, and another appropriating $6,000 for State weather service. Perhaps we need all these things, and then perhaps we could worry along with old-fashioned grace and weather and game laws.

There is prospects of John J. Ingall's return to the Senate from Kansas. Whatever prejudice may exist against Mr. Ingalls at home or elsewhere, there is no doubt of his superior ability in Washington. The fact is Ingalls is a star performer in any legislative assembly. He is simply a terror to an opponent in debate, and his wit and humor is of the first-class. That's our recollection of Ingalls.

The British lion now showeth her teeth lest Japan absorb the whole of China. Recent Shanghai dispatches are to the effect that instructions are already issued to Admiral Freemantle who is in charge of the British fleet in Chinese waters, to use force if necessary to prevent the Japanese squadron from going up the Yang-Tse-Kiang river. When the first British gun is fired look out for a free fight in which the hindmost will get what's left of the Chinese plum.

The Committee on Vice and Immorality may be deemed a hard one to serve on in the Legislature; but that the vicious and immoral may know who got there we publish the names of the committeemen in full, as follows: Messrs. Cochran, Eby, Heidelbaugh, Jeffrey, Zehender, Fredericks, Pennewill, Weaver, Kinner, Martin, Millard, Moore, McDonald, Salinger, Dambly, Richey, French, Hunter, Muehlbronner, Wallace, Marshall, West, Rutledge, Graham, Maple.

Representative Fow, of Philadelphia, wants to prohibit kissing the bible in administering oaths. He believes in laying hands on rather than in kissing, it seems. Anything that will either sanctify or strengthen the oath of some folks should, of course, be encouraged. But if kissing is ineffectual, laying hands on the bible would seem to be farcical, tending rather to weaken than to strengthen the effect and influence of the oath. Unless Mr. Fow can show that temporal disease emanates from a spiritual kiss, or that the bible is not worth kissing, then we say stick to the old form. In fact the bible is not kissed, but simply pressed to the lips of those who love and fear its admonitions. As for those who neither love nor fear it, to lay hands on the Almanac of a weather prophet would answer the same purpose.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The Senators and a large number of spectators in the Senate galleries were entertained for five hours to-day with speeches by Senators Gorman and Hill on the subject of Mr. Hill's amendment to the urgent deficiency bill, by which he seeks to confer on the United States court jurisdiction (in advance of the collection of the income tax) to decide upon its constitutionality and validity.

Mr. Gorman discussed with great earnestness the condition of the treasury and opposed warmly any proposition that would impede the collection of revenue. In doing so he criticised very freely Mr. Hill's whole course in regard to the tariff law. Mr. Hill defended his position and retaliated upon the Maryland Senator with an equally severe criticism of his course.

Carnegie and High Protection.

Twenty leading workmen were discharged from the Carnegie Steel Works on the 14th inst., because of having attended a public meeting contrary to the wishes of their employers, whose interests are not strictly identical with those of the unprotected laborer.

GOVERNOR HASTINGS FORMALLY INSTALLED INTO OFFICE.

Imposing Ceremonies, Parade, &c.

The 15th of January being the day for the installation of the Governor of Pennsylvania, the weather happened to be all that could be desired for the occasion, and the streets of Harrisburg were in good condition. The line of march alone was very much crowded. Political clubs unnumbered appeared early, in order to make sure of being there, and the music which began early continued late. The Fifth, Eighth and First regiments participated in the parade, besides many civic and political organizations.

Noon being the hour for the inaugural ceremonies, the governor-elect and the chosen members of his cabinet, accompanied by the retiring State officials and other dignitaries, repaired from the executive mansion under brilliant display and escort to the Capitol. Appearing on the portico of the edifice the new governor was greeted with cheers.

The inaugural program opened with music from the Third Brigade Band, of Pottsville, after which the divine guidance was invoked by Rev. Wm. A. Houck, of Hazleton.

The certificate of General Hasting's election being next in order, Mr. Smiley, chief clerk of the senate, read it. Administering the oath of office being the next important step, Chief Justice Sterret propounded the questions to which the new governor responded, and which clothed him with full authority as chief executive of the Keystone State of the Union.

The inaugural address followed, consuming perhaps a half an hour, when the ceremonies concluded with prayer.

Taking their place at the head of the inaugural procession, the governor and his retinue passed in review and received the customary enthusiastic greetings.

The governor's first official act was the nomination of his cabinet after which, being unanimously confirmed by the senate, they were punctually sworn in by Mr. Tilden, deputy secretary of the Commonwealth. On the morning of the 16th the new cabinet assumed control of their respective departments.

Aside from the assistant executive clerk, Captain Wm. F. Reber, who will be retained, the clerical force of the governor and his cabinet will be apt to experience more or less inward and outward rotation and the future nominations and preferences of the new governor we are afraid will not strictly comport with the civil service notion which objects to removals and appointments for political reasons.

The close of the inaugural ceremonies in the evening were marked with more or less red paint, as usual; but they closed in some cases early and in others late, and without much regard for the condition of heads in the morning in many cases. The military ball at the armory, the public reception and the fire-works on Market square were all features well calculated to relieve any monotony that might set in.

Prior to the reception governor and Mrs. Hastings entertained at dinner the members of the governor's cabinet and ladies and Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Lyon. The reception began at eight o'clock and continued until close to midnight.

The receiving line formed in the south parlor of the mansion in front of an alcove filled with potted plants banked to the ceiling and illuminated by an arch of electric lights. Music was furnished by the First regiment band, of Philadelphia. Private Secretary Beitler stood on the left of the receiving line and introduced the governor to the guests as they filed into the room. Governor Hastings was flanked on the right by Mrs. Hastings, Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Walter Lyon, Secretary and Mrs. Reeder, Attorney General and Mrs. McCormick, Adjutant General Stewart, Insurance Commissioner Lambert and Mrs. Beitler,

The ladies carried large bouquets of roses, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern tied with white satin ribbon. The roses in each bouquet were of a different color. The gentlemen wore sprigs of lilies of the valley on the lapel of their coats.

The ladies' dresses were en train. Mrs. Hastings wore white satin striped moire with crepe lisse bodice and duchess lace, and diamonds and pearls; Mrs. Lyon, crema brocade satin with cerese pink velvet and chiffone; Mrs. Reeder, white brocade, with pale green velvet and point lace and diamonds; Mrs. McCormick, white moire antique, with pearl and chiffone trimmings and diamonds; Mrs. Beitler, duchess satin, with duchess lace and diamonds; Miss Helen Hastings, daughter of the governor, wore an attractive gown of white silk crepon trimmed with pink rose buds.

A Philadelphia Times correspondent thus describes the dress and appearance of Mrs. Hastings and the inaugural reception as it appeared to him:

"The inaugural reception to night is said by those whose word is authority to have been one of the most brilliant and politely enthusiastic ever held within the four walls of the mansion. The receiving party were Governor and Mrs. Hastings, Lieutenant Governor and wife, Secretary Reeder and wife, Attorney General McCormick and wife, Commissioner of Insurance Colonel Lambert and Mr. and Mrs. Beitler.

"Mrs. Hastings was reposefully dignified, womanly, and was beautifully and effectively gowned. Her dress was white silk, pipe organ skirt, square cut neck, chiffon vest, double puffed sleeves, real lace trimmings. Mrs. Hastings carried a large bunch of roses, lilies of the valley and ferns."

MUST PRESERVE THE BALLOT.

The Supreme Court Decides That Blanket Stickers Must Not be Used.

In the contested election case for School Directors, appealed from the Quarter Sessions Court of Lawrence county, the Supreme Court, in an opinion by Chief Justice Sterrett, has settled an important question as to the manner in which persons who are not named upon the official ballot may be voted for.

At the election held in Little Beaver township in February, 1894, many of the electors procured printed blanket slips containing the names of persons to be voted for, the titles of the offices, etc. These slips they pasted on the right hand column of the official ballot which was devoted to blank spaces, and when thus pasted they obliterated all the titles of offices, the directions for marking, etc., upon the official ballot and substituted like matters which were printed upon these slips. Cross marks were also made opposite certain names in this column.

A contest arose and the Court below decided that ballots so pasted and marked were illegal. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court. In deciding the question Justice Sterrett quotes from the ballot law and says that while it is perfectly right to fill in the blank spaces it is entirely wrong to cover up the printed matter. Concluding, he says: "To permit the voter to procure from outside parties a slip-ticket or sticker, corresponding in size with said column, and paste the same over the printed matter, as well as the blank spaces thereon, would be contrary to the letter as well as the spirit of the act. But it is enough for us to know that no authority can be found in the act for doing any such thing."

The decree of the lower court was affirmed.

Almost Blind

Inflamed Eyes and Running Sores

The Success of Hood's Causes Great Rejoicing—A Perfect Cure.

Miss Cora B. Ebert
Barnesville, Pa.

C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:
"I feel it a duty to state what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I was almost blind, being compelled to stay in a darkened room on account of inflammation of the eyes. I also suffered with running sores on my body. I was in terrible condition. My mother tried every thing she knew about and I was attended by two doctors but without helping me. Finally Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended and I had not taken two bottles before I began to get better. The inflammation left my eyes and the sores healed, and the result was that and was restored to perfect health. At that time I was only twelve years old; now I am nineteen and I have not since been troubled with my eyes or noticed any sign of a return of the sores on my body. I can recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as an excellent blood purifying medicine." MISS CORA EBERT, Barnesville, Pa.

We are in receipt almost daily of new patterns of Wall Paper. In a few weeks our stock will be complete and ready for your inspection. If you intend papering in the spring, or even if you have not yet decided to do so, call and see for how small an amount you can make your home bright and cheerful. Don't be deceived by circulars or advertisements offering you paper at ridiculously low prices, it will prove expensive in the end. We have some old stock that we will sell at very low prices. Our stock of Room Moulding cannot be surpassed by any one in town.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Many years' experience has taught him that nearly all ailments can be cured or greatly helped. The diseases he treats are Consumption, all Bronchial Affections, Loss of Manhood, Crooked Limbs, Wry Necks, Barrenness, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Syphilis, Eye and Ear Diseases, Skin Diseases, Neuralgia, Bright's Disease, Ulcers and Old Sores of every description, Rheumatism, either acute or chronic, Sick Headache, Epilepsy, Gastritis, Congestion, Canker, Tonsilitis, Deafness, St. Vitus' Dance, Impediment of Speech, Loss of Voice, Stuttering, Cancer of the Stomach, Piles, Jaundice, Constipation, Biliousness, Dysentery, Chronic Diarrhœa, Chills and Fever, Fistula, Bilious Colic, Paralysis, Heart Disease, Intestinal Worms and Liver Complaints.

However, it must be remembered that he will not undertake to treat all cases but only those which he is positive can be cured or greatly relieved, and will tell you at once which, if either, can be accomplished

DR. MacTAGGART is the only specialist this side of New York, Philadelphia and Buffalo, who makes an exclusive specialty of treating Chronic Cases and the Diseases of Women. Those who have been suffering for years should call at once and learn whether their ailment can be cured or not. No cases received unless they can be cured or greatly helped.

What Dr. MacTaggart HAS DONE AND IS DOING.

The Doctor wishes the public to understand that he is not soliciting the ordinary run of cases, but desires just such diseases to treat that other physicians cannot succeed with or at least fail to cure. When you suffer from such consult HIM (consultation is free), have him thoroughly diagnose your case, and then what he tells you can be relied upon as a fact beyond refutation. Some may say, "Why go to Dr. MacTaggart when we have as good doctors here as anywhere?" Yes, so you have in their line of practice, but not in those specialties that Dr. MacTaggart is schooled and practiced in. In support of this unqualified assertion read his testimonials—not only read them, but investigate the truthfulness of them. Where are the physicians who can remove cancers without pain and cure it beyond peradventure? He does it. Where can you find another physician in Pennsylvania who can remove tumors of even 60 pounds weight without the use of the knife, without pain, and without leaving a scar? Dr. MacTaggart does it. What physician can cure fistulas without cutting or causing the least pain or soreness during treatment? Dr. MacTaggart does it successfully. These are golden truths—golden because it proves beyond dispute that the science of medicine in specialties particularly, is advancing with rapid strides far in the lead of the regular practitoner. 1-18-1y.

MONEY LOANED

Do you want to borrow money on equitable terms?

Do you desire to pay off a mortgage and re-borrow the money at 5 per cent. interest annually?

Would you care to be so situated that you could reduce the mortgage against your home by paying off a small amount monthly and at the end of each year receive credit for all paid? With interest being charged only on remaining portion of loan.

Would you like to buy your family a home? If so, read the following:

I represent a Company that has embodied in its plan all the features enumerated above and many more. Can you see any reason why you should pay a large interest for money when you have good security? Can you present any good reason why it is not as well to receive profits yearly as to wait from 7 to 10 years as one does in many of the Associations? Is not the reduction of interest yearly better than waiting many years for profits? Borrowers under the plan represented by me assume absolutely no risk as each $1.00 paid on the loan is credited on the mortgage, thereby reducing it in proportion to the amount paid.

Building Associations have benefitted hundreds of thousands, so did the old cars that were propelled by horses. Our plan is as far superior to Building Associations as the trolley cars are to the old antiquated horse car system. My time is too much occupied to answer questions for the curious, but those seeking information for the betterment of their condition will receive full information promptly. We offer an investment to those who have a small amount to save monthly that has no superior as to safety and seldom equaled for profits. Call or write.

Democratic Poor Directors.

At a meeting, on Saturday, of the Democratic committeemen representing the Bloom poor district, at the office of Wm. Chrisman of Bloomsburg, the following named gentlemen were placed in nomination as directors, namely: H. M. Rhoads, of Bloomsburg, and Samuel DeMott, of Millville. These nominations are admitted to be good ones and worthy of election.

And Still Another Suicide.

The Root of Evil and Vanity the Cause of It.

Isaac F. Abbott, an old and respected citizen of Dover, N. H., and cashier of the Dover National Bank, was found on the 14th inst. to be a defaulter to an amount estimated to be about $80,000, and when officers went to his residence to arrest him he shot and killed himself.

The discovery of the defalcation was made by Bank Examiner Dorr, who began an examination of the bank last Friday. He asked Mr. Abbott certain questions which the cashier said he would answer next morning. When the examiner came again Saturday morning it was found that the safe could not be opened, and Mr. Abbott failed to appear. He was at home and said that he would explain all Monday.

The refusal of the cashier to say anything was brought to the attention of the bank officials, and Examiner Dorr at once declared Abbott a defaulter.

Mr. Abbott remained at home all day, and Chief of Police Fogarty detailed police officers to guard the house. The object of setting the time lock ahead was to give him time. Abbott stated that the vault would open in the morning at nine o'clock. When the vault was unlocked, Bank Examiner Dorr posted a notice that the bank had suspended business until its affairs could be straightened out. At three o'clock in the afternoon a brother of Abbott heard the report of a pistol, and rushing to his brother's room, found him lying on the floor with his face shattered and covered with blood. Life was extinct. It is believed the dead cashier has left a detailed statement for Examiner Dorr. Intense excitement prevails, as Abbott was also cashier of the Five Cent Savings Bank and was city treasurer.

Mr. Abbott's bond was issued for $20,000 by the North American Guarantee Company of Montreal, who have been apprised of the default. The city's money on deposit is said to be safe. The stockholders will have to make good the deficiency in the bank.

An audience in keeping with the high character of Mr. Wilfred Clarke and the specially selected company, among which were Mrs. John Drew, the distinguished actress, and Joseph J. Holland, the well known actor, engaged to support him, filled the Girard Avenue Theatre, Philadelphia, Monday evening to witness Mr. Clarke's performance of "Bob Acres," in Sheridan's famous comedy of "The Rivals." The steadily increasing audience up to the point of standing room only, and the lively interest manifested in all Mr. Clarke's performances demonstrate that the public are prepared to support managers and actors who give an opportunity to witness plays which attract by force of their literary excellence. The strongest compliment that can be paid Mr. Clarke and his company is the simple statement that every person in the cast brought to their tasks a degree of intelligence that rendered the entire performance a perfectly pleasing one. Mr. Clarke's comedy cannot be compared to any other extant; it is original and it is doubtful if the oldest theatre-goer in the audience ever witnessed its equal. Many private carriages were in waiting at the close of the performance. To see Clarke in comedy has become a fashionable necessity in Philadelphia—Times, Philadelphia.

The date of Mr. Clarke's return engagement here is Wednesday, January 23, when he will present great comedy of "Tit for Tat" at the Opera House.

THE TOWN COUNCIL.

Council met on last Monday evening. A quorum being present the following matters were considered:

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

Representatives Savits and Benshoff of the Fire Department presented claims for annual pay for services rendered. Accordingly on motion of Creasy and Sterling orders issued as follows: Friendship Company, $150; Winona Company, $75.

As per request, permits were granted the following named persons, who contemplate building:

Moyer Brothers, Mary Hazeltine, J. L. Harman, A. V. Hower, J. N. Webb.

A proposition from Warren Eyer to make a new map of the town, conforming with present improved conditions, for a compensation of $150 in six months after completion of the map, was laid over for future consideration on motion of Creasy and Wilson.

The unpaid interest on the damages awarded to C. M. Chrisman was inquired after by Wm. Chrisman. The secretary was directed to issue an order for the amount of $33.15, this being the amount required to close the entire obligation.

Mr. P. E. Wirt's offer to give a 20-foot alley if the town will vacate a 12-foot alley on Welsh Hill, was objected to by David Fisher who appeared before Council and made quite a speech in opposition to the proposition, claiming that it would damage his wife's property. The matter being finally brought to vote by Messrs. Wilson and Hicks, who moved that the town accept Mr. Wirt's proposition, the liberal proposition of Mr. Wirt carried unanimously.

Warren Eyer reported for Town Engineer Brown the grade for East Fifth street, from East out to Park. After some remarks, pertinent and otherwise, the matter was dropped without action.

On motion of Creasy, ordered that the solicitor be instructed to collect the benefits assessed against property owners for the opening of West street.

Since the completion of the proposed road has been abandoned, it was deemed advisable to take action to compel the Reading railroad to take up their track on Eighth street.

The following bills were ordered paid:

It is spring and sometimes almost midsummer now in the magazine offices. The Christmas numbers were got out of the way weeks ago, and later numbers have long been in various states of forwardness. The spring poem inspired by the glories of last May is now in type for May, '95.

The Rothschilds smoke the most costly cigars that are made—the "Henry Clay Sobranos," which cost nearly five shillings. These are wrapped in gold leaf and packed in little inlaid cedar wood cabinets. These millionaire princes buy three cabinets at a time, containing 42,000 cigars, 20,000 Havanas, and one kind originally made for Marshal Prim as a present for Napoleon III., at a cost of 30,000 francs. Each cigar was tipped with gold at each end, and stamped with the imperial N in gold. By way of acknowledging the gift Napoleon sent him a pair of magnificent Sevres vases.

As yet I have not been able to visit and inspect them.'"

In the office of the Pall Mall Magazine the phonograph has been put to a novel use. An article is read in front of the receiving funnel, and the waxen cylinder is sent to the printer, who sets it in a duplicate machine and puts the tubes in his ears. He then regulates the speed to suit himself and sets by ear instead of by eye.—Mail and Express.

Light may be thrown upon the vexed question of the origin of man in the Western Hemisphere by a recent discovery in South Mexico. In a rock hewn tomb has been found a bronze and hammered iron sword, bearing on its blade and handle, in rich inlaying of silver, characters of record and representations of life distinctively Assyrian and Grecian.

The Westminster Gazette calls attention to the fact, upon authority of Consul General Patrick Collins, that negroes are flocking to England in great numbers. The steamship companies confirm Mr. Collins' statements, and add that nearly all the wealthy colored folks are sending their sons to study law, medicine or art in London. Most of these people are West Indian negroes and not Afro-Americans. The wealthy Afro-Americans send their sons to be educated at Harvard, Yale and Oberlin, and only in isolated cases do they send them to Europe.

A FORTUNATE FAINT.

A Woman Spared by an Angry Lion as She Seemed Dead.

"A fainting fit is something not unusually to be desired," remarked Marcus L. Wilson, of Athens, Ga., to a San Francisco Examiner reporter, "but I recall an instance where a swoon proved to be about the best thing that could have happened to a certain young lady, as it probably was the means of saving her life.

"During the street parade of a circus, a few years ago, a full-grown lion managed in some way to break the fastenings of his cage and bounded out in the midst of the crowd of people who were collected in the street. Of course, the people were frightened nearly out of their wits, and fled in every direction. One woman was so badly terrified that she sank to the ground in a dead faint not more than ten feet from where the lion stood lashing his tail and glaring about him. No one dared to approach the woman to bear her to a place of safety, neither was there a gun nor pistol handy with which to kill the beast.

"All at once the lion turned his gaze on the prostrate form of the woman, and with an awful roar reached her side with one bound. The spectators were horrified, expecting the next moment to see the poor woman torn limb from limb. To the great astonishment of every one, the lion, instead of mangling the body, simply sniffed at it, turned it over with his paws, and, after eyeing it suspiciously, walked away. He thought the woman was dead. After some time and a good deal of trouble the lion was captured by his keepers and recaged."

A Sure Thing.

Mrs. Shoppen—And you are sure the colors will not run?

Clerk—Certain of it! These goods were made in Philadelphia.

He Will Live On.

A man who had just dined at a Woodward avenue restaurant recently was picking his teeth in that self-satisfied way so aggravating to a hungry person when he was accosted by a pedestrian, who promptly introduced himself as follows:

"'Deevening, sir. I am a bum. My name is Davison. I want to ask a favor of you."

"I swore off long ago," replied the diner as he carried the toothpick over to his other jaw.

"You mistake my object, sir! I am not asking you for money to pay for drink, lodgings or food. I do not want to go to Toledo, Buffalo, or Chicago. In fact, sir, I do not want money to live on, but to die on."

"Um! Want to die, eh?"

"I do, sir. This is my last night in the beautiful city of Detroit and also on earth. By midnight my soul shall have winged its weary flight to that mysterious realm."

"Going to commit suicide?"

"I am. I have coolly and calmly figured it out. Life has been a failure. It is not worth the living. In that other land I can perhaps become a successful vag."

"But why should a dying man want money?"

"I owe a man in this town twenty-five cents. He is a good man, but poor. He lent me the money to keep me from suffering, and I won't be mean enough to die and leave him to whistle for it. I want to put that quarter in his hand and say to him: 'Jim,' old boy, I am going hence, but before I go I want to square up. Here's your quarter and may heaven reward you for your kindness.' That's what I want to say, sir, and I now ask you for the coin."

"Yes. You are sure to die?"

"My mind is irrevocably made up."

"And Jim must have his quarter?"

"He must."

"I'll do better than that," said the man as he pulled out book and pencil. "Give me Jim's address and I'll call around in the morning and break the sad news of your death and hand him a half. What's the full name, please?"

"The full name? Sir, you are evidently a heartless human reptile, and I want nothing more to do with you. Keep your money, sir—keep your money, sir—keep your money and I'll be hanged if I commit suicide. No, sir—no, sir. When I see such evidences of the cruel heartlessness of the world it decides me to live on just as long as I can and be just as mean as I can. Consider our interview at an end. Good night, sir."

And he drew himself up and stalked off through the darkness and left the man to chew his toothpick and look after him and regret his unjust suspicions.—Detroit Free Press.

METHODS OF PRIMARY READING. VII.

The Sentence Method, Continued.--Exercises Before Books are Used.--First Step.

By William Noetling.

"The object of this step is to awaken thought in the mind of the child by means of objects, and to give to the thought complete oral expression.

"The teacher should be provided with a number of objects such as may be readily handled. At first those only should be used that will admit of the use of the article a before the name.

"WITH OBJECTS IN HAND. First—Let the teacher and each pupil take and object in each hand.

"The teacher will call upon one of the pupils to tell what he has, and in reply the pupil will probably hold up the object and pronounce its name.

"Teacher—'Jane, what have you?'

"Jane—'A pencil?'

"Teacher—'Who has a pencil?'

"Jane—'I have.'

"Teacher—'Now tell me all about it.'

"Jane—'I have got a pencil.'

"Teacher—Very well! But will one of you tell me what he has and leave out the word 'got.'

"Charles—'I have a knife.'

"Teacher—'That is right. Now Jane will try again. Tell me what you have?

"Jane—'I have a pencil.'

"It is best to secure the proper expression from the children, though it may take some time. But if the teacher fails in this, she will hold up her own object, and say, 'I have a book.' Then call upon one of the children who will very likely respond properly. 'I have a knife.'

"The form of expression once obtained, there will be very little difficulty in obtaining similar expressions from each member of the class. Let each hold up his object and tell what he has. This done, let the children change objects, and repeat the exercise, telling what each one has.

"Second—Next let two or three children take hold of the same object, and let one of them make the statement, 'We have a doll. * * *

"Third—Let one pupil hold an object and call upon another to make the statement. If a boy has an object, the response will be, 'He has a knife'; if a girl, 'She has a pencil.'

"Fourth—The teacher will hold an object, and the pupil will make the statement to the teacher, 'You have a map.'

"Fifth—Two or more members of the class will hold an object, and one of the others will make the statement to the teacher, as to the remaining members of the class, 'They have a book.'

"These forms of expression will be repeated and changed in their order until there is no confusion or tendency to error in expression. The children should instantly respond with the appropriate expression.

"Each teacher will select such objects as the circumstances may require. The following list may serve as a hint to the kind of objects which may be used. When the objects cannot be used, a toy or picture representing it may be substituted.

"Book, slate, pencil, paper, knife, string, board, chalk, desk, seat, table, door, window, hat, cap, boat, shoe, clock, watch, doll, knife, match, wood, stove, girl, boy, man, woman, house, barn, dog, cat, corn, horse, rat, pig, sheep, glass, nail, &c.

"In regard to words other than the names of familiar objects, the book which is to be used should be taken as a guide.

"WITH THE OBJECT IN SIGHT. First. Place the object before the class, and call upon a child to tell what he sees, and he will respond, 'I see a hat.'

"Let another speak for himself and his companions with 'We see a clock.' Introduce the other pronouns with the verb see, as in previous exercises. Next introduce other verbs."

SECOND STEP.

The object of this step is the reverse of that of the first, namely, "to awaken in the mind of the child the exact thought contained in oral expression, and to verify it by appropriate concrete representation."

THIRD STEP.

"The object of this step is to awaken in the mind of the child the exact thought contained in written expression, and to enable him to express it in the language used. This is Reading.

"While of necessity, in reading, the expression precedes the thought, no lesson will be a success where the expression fails to awaken the thought. * * *

"The teacher goes to the board, and in a clear bold hand writes a sentence, as: 'I have a knife' The pupils see the writing but of course do not know what it means. The teacher will call a pupil and put a knife in his hands, and the pupil, in response to the impulse which is the result of previous training will instantly hold up the knife and say 'I have a knife.'

"The teacher writes another sentence, as, 'I have a pencil,' and puts the object in the hands of another child who will respond, 'I have a pencil.'

"The teacher will proceed in the same way until several children have objects in their hands, representing as many sentences upon the board.

"The teacher will next call upon the first child to point out and read his sentence, which he will readily do as he still holds the object in his hand.

"Each child, in turn, will be called upon to point out and read his particular sentence. * * *

"Next, the pupils may exchange objects, and point out the sentences that express the new order of things under the same condition as before. * * *

"These lessons are to be continued day after day, care being taken to vary the order and the objects, so that the children cannot recall the sentences by their location. * * *

"ANALYSIS. Soon after children begin to read sentences, it will be found that they recognize individual words. From the study of the sentence as a whole they have discovered the elements or words of which the sentence is composed. * * *

"WRITING. Early in this step some, if not all, of the children will have the impulse to write. This should be encouraged. * * *

"LETTERS. While directing the writing the teacher will speak of the letters as though they were known to the pupils, showing the size of the m's, t's, &c., and in this way it will soon be discovered that the children can distinguish the letters and name them.

"TEACHER'S WORK. There should be no careless work on the part of the teacher. * * *

Everything written upon the board should therefore be absolutely correct in spelling, use of capitals, punctuation, grammatical construction, penmanship, and in form, such as indentations, margins, &c."

To make a success of this method the teachers must be intelligent and wide awake. The average teacher would make a failure of it.

Electricity Displacing Steam.

The Baltimore & Lehigh Railroad Company will use electric motors on its line between York and Baltimore. Power will be furnished by the Susquehanna Electric Company. The Pennsylvania section of the railroad is to be made broadgauge. The Susquehanna Company was organized to build the dam and power-generating station near Conowingo, Md., and a company is now being formed in Baltimore with a capitalization of over $1,000,000 to push the project of supplying electric power to different large establishments and railways. The station for the distribution of the 35,000 horse power generated is to be built in the suburbs of Baltimore. It will also contain facilities for storage of power on a large scale by the latest improved mode. While the parent company will control the use of this power and own the dam, stations, etc., branch companies are to be formed in Baltimore and any other city or town where the power is transmitted to any extent. The branches will pay the parent concern so much for their franchises and rent the power in the district where they are incorporated.

Prosperous Workers.

The mechanic in Philadelphia earning $20 per week and paying rental at the rate of from $15 to $18 per month, may have for this sum a home upon a pleasant, clean, well paved street, which contains six to eight rooms, and all the conveniences of the costly mansion of his rich employer. Moreover, he may command the resources of the finest market system in the world at thirty-five fine markets containing 1184 stalls, and educate his sons and daughters to a higher standard in the applied arts or the sciences, for less outlay than anywhere else.

The Ways and Means Committee of Congress recently listened to the ways and means suggested to them by Jake S. Coxey of commonweal fame. His plan is to issue a whole lot of non-interest-bearing bonds. But as that would seem to ruin the non interest-paying banks, Coxey is again likely to suffer defeat. It is well, however, for the committee to get his ideas about the straightening up our financial embarrassment; for Coxey is authority on embarrassment.

Philadelphia Ahead.

Fairmount Park of Philadelphia is the largest public pleasure ground in the United States, having an area of nearly 3,000 acres, and about fifty miles of drives, and one hundred miles of walks and bridal-paths. In addition the city owns thirty-two other small parks and public squares.

The Zoological Garden is the largest in this country also. How New York must weep with envy. But then New York has Dr. Parkhurst and his Lexow investigating committee.

College Athletics.

Base-ball statistics show that in the total of games played in 1894. Yale won 18 out of 22 games; Pennsylvania won 17 out of 21 games; and Princeton won 16 out of 21 games. Yale lost 3 games; Pennsylvania lost 4; and Princeton lost 5. Yale's percentage is .750; Pennsylvania's .692; Princeton .615.

It is said that College Athletics were marked during the year by greatly improved performances, whatever happened to their books, their studies or their heads.

Legislative Committee Appointments.

Hon. A. L. Fritz was not only the choice for Speaker of the House among the Democrats in legislative assembly, but (this being an empty honor) he was also assigned to duty on three of the most important committees, namely, Committee on Ways and Means, Committee on Appropriations, and the Committee on Judiciary General. While these are the most important committees in the legislative make up, he is also assigned to duty on the Committee on Pensions and Gratuities and on the Legislative Apportiontment Committee.

Hon. W. T. Creasy, of Catawissa, was also favorably assigned to duty on the Committee of accounts, the Committee on Library, and the Committee on Manufactures, and on Public Buildings.

Hon. H. H. Rutter now of Hughesville, but a native and former resident of Bloomsburg, and now in the Legislature, was assigned to committee work as follows: Committee to Compare Bills, Committee on Fish and Game, and on Judicial Apportionment Committee. These gentlemen we believe will prove themselves to be fair representatives of their constituents, and therefore entitled to the prefix of "Hon." now properly attached to their names.

For his fourth annual tour Mr. Wilfred Clarke, the distinguished American comedian, has surrounded himself with a comedy of the highest order of excellence and is presenting refined standard comedy in its most approved form. Mr. Clarke's season began at Camden, N. J., Monday, December 10th. In his company are the following players whose abilities are well known: Miss Helen Guest, the brilliant and talented commedienne, late of Charles Frohman's company; H. Willard Storm, of the Booth-Barrett company; Christine Ellsworth, the great society card at the Girard Avenue Theatre, Philadelphia, and the charming comedienne Angela Segalini, of Manager Holland's Philadelphia Stock Company, Mr. Clarke carries special scenery for the plays he is presenting this year, and every performance is characterized by an attention to artistic detail usually only found in the few large cities of the country.

He will be seen in this city on the evening of Wednesday, January 23, giving his great performance of "Tit for Tat," a side-splitting farcical comedy of his acting in which the Washington Post said:

"Wilfred Clarke, the bright young comedian, played at the Academy of Music last night before a delighted audience in his side-splitting comedy "Tit for Tat." Mr. Clarke came fully up to the high standard which was predicted in advance. In this production Clarke is supported by a most excellent company, but he is, of course, the central figure of the play. The audience is made to witness some of the most excruciatingly ludicrous situations and complications, all depending upon the manner of acting of the chief player, who is intensely funny. His facial expressions are something extraordinary. It can be safely said that as an interpreter of refined comedy, his equal has not been seen in Washington this season. The performance was a complete success.

China's Utter Prostration and Humiliation.

Japan may not want the earth, but then she wants about as much of it as the Chinese Empire covers. She wants it as the sum total of her conditions of peace and to pay her to quit shooting, now that she has the upper hand of her great big enemy. Among Japan's latest requirements to establish peace we find the following: A war indemnity equivalent to the expense of the war; a provision that Corea be forever hereafter independent of China and under Japanese suezrainty; that China also give up certain important and valuable islands; that she tear down such certain forts as might prove a hindrance or menace to Japan's domination in case of future trouble; demolish all fortifications on the route from Corea into China; and agree that Japan shall in all future time fix the number and style of Chinese warships. Are these terms acceded to, the surrender will be unparalleled in the world's history, for it will be the virtual absorption of China by Japan, and we rather apprehend it will be the biting off of more than can be chewed in the face of the jealousy already quite apparent elsewhere.

Waterproof collars and cuffs that you can clean yourself by simply wiping off with a wet sponge. The genuine look exactly like linen and every piece is marked this way:

TRADE CELLULOID MARK.

They are made by covering a linen collar or cuff with "celluloid," and are the only waterproof goods made with an interlining, and the only goods that can stand the wear and give perfect satisfaction. Never wilt and not effected by moisture. Try them and you will never regret it. Ask for those with above trade mark and refuse any imitations. If your dealer does not have them we will mail you a sample direct on receipt of price. Collars 25c. each. Cuffs 50c. pair. State whether stand-up or turned-down collar is wanted.

The Cost of Running Schuylkill County.

According to a statement given out from the Commissioners' office on Saturday, the county expenditures last year were very heavy. The count shows that there were appropriated $122,125.84 for the Almshouse last year, and all but a few thousand dollars of this amount have been expended. Last year's expenses are $35,289.43 greater than in 1893, but this increase includes some big outstanding orders for 1893.

The valuation of the county in 1894 was $48,963171, and the tax, assessed at the rate of 6 mills, amounted to $293,779.03. The taxes for 1893 amounted to $269,297.44 on the same valuation, the rate being 5½ mills. Last year's receipts from license amounted to $24,922, as compared with $18,845.05 for the previous year. The total expenditures were $682,687.19, as against $561,317.76 for the year 1893.—Advocate.

It begins to look as though Governor Pattison was born under the influence of some lucky star. From the governorship of a State largely republican in national contests he is now likely to become the accepted reform Mayor of a strongly republican city that needs to be reformed and Lexowed the worst kind of way. Success to the Democratic reformer.

There is on the calendar in Congress what is known as the Grout butter bill, which makes oleomargarine, butterine, and all other imitations of butter subject to the laws of the States into which they may be transported. A State law prohibiting its manufacture and sale is the only thing that will head off spurious butter. And if prohibition don't prohibit its a little doubtful whether spurious butter made elsewhere can be thus entirely excluded.

It may be read between the lines in Governor Hasting's inaugural address that he discovers after election, that our protective tariff rates can be modified without great national or state injury. There will be some individual injury, of course, if the schedules of protective rates are modified; but as for the masses these individuals are now too powerful.

Just One Little Shot.

The story comes from Port Treverton that Congressmen elect Kulp and Leisenring, and Dr's Biddle, and Montelius, were hunting in that vicinity. They espied a little innocent rabbit. The four aimed at the "bonnie" and when the rabbit was afterward caught by the dogs, it was found that but a single shot had entered body.—Ashland Advocate.

A Narrow Escape for Lincoln Grant.

Word comes from Charleston, S. C., to the effect that Lincoln Grant, who was sentenced to be hanged on Mount Pleasant on Friday, for the murder of Jack Manigault had his sentence commuted to life imprisonment just in the nick of time; for the sheriff was preparing to fix the nooze when news arrived and prolonged the life of Lincoln Grant. What's in a name? Blood will tell.

Pattison's Staff Organizes.

Governor Pattison's staff has formed a permanent organization with the governor as president, and will hold a social session once a year at Philadelphia. When the governor is settled down in his new home at Overbrook his staff will present him with a pair of fine horses valued at $1,500 The animals were bred by Colonel West, of Montrose, a member of the governor's staff.

Legislative Proceedings.

The assembly on the 14th is reported as having been conspicuous for the absence of Chris Magee. However, they managed to pull through. The session lasted 35 minutes by the watch and in this brief time the following appointments of the Governor were confirmed:

To be inspectors of the Eastern penitentiary, Richard Vaux, Conrad B. Day and A. J. Maloney; notaries public, John B. Jones, Jr., Allegheny; Blaine Ewing, Pittsburg; G. M. Schmidt, Pittsburg; H. C. Myler, Pittsburg; H. F. Hemley, Reading; A. L. Bowser, Butler; W. H. Ross, Charion; Aaron W. Snyder, Lancaster; I. N. S. Will, Lancaster; W. H. Love, Lawrence; I. P. Pollock, Luzerne; A. A. Baratta, Philadelphia; V. J. Schwartz, Philadelphia; S. F. Clevenger, Philadelphia; I. W. Barto, Schuylkill; J. D. McCalmont, Venango; M. S. Adams, York; Charles Palmer, Delaware; H. S. Garra.

Besides some communications and resolutions which were read, the following bills were introduced:

By Mr. Baker—Making an appropriation to the training school for feeble minded children at Elwyn.

By Mr. Snyder—Authorizing the superintendent of public instruction to employ additional clerical force.

By Mr. Penrose—Abolishing days of grace on commercial paper.

By Mr. McCreary—Correcting errors in description in the venditioni exponas in sales of real estate on execution.

By Mr. Meredith—Expediting the determination of suits.

By Mr. McCarrell—Providing for a separate appearance and judgment docket for cases in which the attorney general appears for the commonwealth; fixing the salary of supreme court prothonotaries at $7,500; providing for the exemption of typewriting machines from levy or sale on execution for rent.

By Mr. Coyle—Making an appropriation for the Ashland hospital; organizing a bureau of mining.

By Mr. Green—Making an appropriation to the Reading hospital.

By Mr. Brewer—Making a general appropriation to the Huntingdon reformatory; also appropriating $45,000 for construction of new cells.

By Mr. Laubach—Relating to letting of contracts by county commissioners; appropriating $25,000 to St. Luke's hospital, Bethlehem, and $16,000 to the Easton hospital.

By Mr. Stites—Relating to the competency of witnesses.

By Mr. Brown—Providing for the safety of bituminous coal miners; appropriating $20,000 to the Westmoreland hospital, Greensburg; authorizing the publication and sale of Smull's handbook to school directors and controllers; appropriating $10,000 for a monument to Colonel Henry Bouquet.

By Mr. Kauffman—Establishing a separate orphans' court for Lancaster county.

By Mr McQuown—Authorizing the publication of Smull's handbook.

By Mr. Hackenberg—Providing for bail on writs of certiorari to remove proceedings of justices of the peace.

By Mr. Landis—Authorizing the election of road supervisors for three years.

Several bills were reported from committee and the senate then adjourned until next morning at eleven o'clock.

The Rush for Office.

The governor elect has just 22 places on his staff at his disposal. And having 300 heroic applicants to choose from up to date, it is possible that Governor Hastings will have a picked staff.

As to other offices at his disposal he has received over 8,000 applications for them, and to give respectful answer to each applicant he has found steady employment for a stenographer who writes like lightning, besides a clerk who does his sleeping outside of office hours.
